

Agastache x Poquito Orange Hyssop

Price : $15.00

Price includes 6% MD sales tax

Exposure Full Sun

Height 10" - 15"

Spread 12" - 24"

Spacing 16"

Bloom Color Orange

Bloom time Early Summer - Fall

Deer Resistant Yes

USDA Hardiness Zone 6 - 10

Description

Agastache 'Poquito Orange' produces a long floral display, from early summer to early fall, with tubular orange flowers emerging from buds and held in long, terminal spikes. Poquito means 'little bit' in Spanish and this Agastache is shorter than other cultivars. It is pollinator friendly and a hummingbird and goldfinch magnet. It offers a long flowering season, heat and drought tolerance, and scented foliage. Removing the spent flowers keeps it blooming longer. It is a great perennial for a sun garden or in a container. Avoid over watering and fertilize once a year in late fall.