

Crocosmia x. (Montbretia)

George Davison

Falling Stars

Price : $18.00

Price includes 6% MD sales tax

Exposure Full Sun, Part Shade

Height 24" - 30"

Spread 24" - 30"

Spacing 6" - 8"

Bloom Color Golden Yellow

Bloom time Late Summer

Deer Resistant Yes

USDA Hardiness Zone 4 - 9

Description

Crocosmia have bright green, sword-like foliage and wiry, branching stems and carrying buds which open to create a splash of golden yellow color in the late summer. It is an early blooming cultivar. They grow quickly and form clumps and thus need dividing regularly. It is a drought-tolerant perennial that creates high impact in the landscape and patio containers. In containers, lifting corms for winter is rather simple and can be replanted in spring. Excellent as cut flowers. If flower spikes are left on plant after blooms fade, the seed pods that develop will attract birds in the fall. Attracts butterflies, birds and hummingbirds.